

JOB POSTING
Web Designer

Global Labour Research Centre
Faculty of LA&PS, York University

Category: Work Study (for YorkU undergraduate students)

Position: Web Designer

Type: Part-time

Wage: $17.00/hour

Start Date: June 6, 2022

End Date: August 26, 2022

Application Deadline: April 22, 2022 11:59 pm ET

Description:

The Global Labour Research Centre (GLRC) promotes the study of work, employment and labour at York University. We are seeking an undergraduate student skilled in web design to redevelop our website, which you can view here.

York University has undergone a university-wide rebranding and the GLRC is required to follow new website guidelines and implement new WordPress modules on its website. The website content has already been transferred, and the selected candidate will work to redesign the appearance of each webpage, refine or replace the content when needed, and adhere to AODA guidelines. This is a great opportunity for students to further develop their web design skills and exercise their creativity to optimize user experience and enhance the visual appearance of the website.

The candidate will report to and receive support from GLRC Coordinator Hajer Mirwali and GLRC Director Luann Good Gingrich.

Please note this is a Work/Study position for the Summer term and is open only to YorkU undergraduate students.

Qualifications:

- Experience with website design (preferably using the block editor on WordPress)
- Excellent written communication skills
- Familiarity with writing image descriptions
- Ability to work independently
- Creative problem solving
- Graphic design skills (not required, but considered an asset)

How To Apply:

Students must apply through Experience York under the job ID "41451 - Web Designer." Please include a cover letter, resume, and portfolio including 1-3 samples/links of websites or webpages that you have designed. The deadline for applications is April 22, 2022 by 11:59 pm ET.

For more information, please contact glrc@yorku.ca.